Area	These qualifications
Who are the qualifications for?	These qualifications are aimed at a diverse range of job roles and occupational areas across all service user groups and ages, working in statutory (including NHS), private and voluntary agencies. This would be suitable for anyone aged 16 or older, who have an interest in operating in a caring role for older people. These roles include (across the level 2 and level 3 qualifications): • Care assistants/support workers/key workers in residential settings • Healthcare assistants/support workers in community and primary care environments or acute health environments • Care assistants/support workers/key workers in domiciliary services • Care assistants/support workers/key workers in day services • Support workers in supported living projects • Community-based care assistants/support workers/key workers, including those working in specialist areas eg dementia, learning disabilities • Family support workers • Personal assistants employed directly by the individual they support or their families • Senior workers in above services • First line supervisors working at level 3 • Team leaders working at level 3 • Emerging new types of workers and multidisciplinary health roles crossing traditional service barriers and delivery models • Informal and family carers
What do the qualifications cover?	A range of opportunities to support workers in developing their knowledge, skills and understanding of people that have dementia.
Why have the qualifications been developed?	They are designed to help meet the dementia strategies for the UK and so improve health and care services supporting individuals diagnosed with dementia.

2 Centre requirements

Approval

This section outlines the approval processes for Centres to offer these qualifications and any resources that Centres will need in place to offer the qualifications including qualification-specific requirements for Centre staff.

Centres already offering City & Guilds qualifications in this subject area

Fast track approval is available for this qualification for centres who already offer any of the following qualifications:

- 3172 NVQ in Health and Social Care
- 3176 Working in the Health Sector
- 3179 Certificate in Health and Social Care
- 4222 Diplomas in Health and Social Care
- 4229 Certificate in Preparing to Work in Adult Social Care

2.1 Resource requirements

Human resources

To meet the quality assurance criteria for these qualifications, the centre must ensure that the following internal roles are undertaken:

- Quality Assurance Coordinator
- Trainer/Tutor
- Assessor (occupationally competent and occupationally knowledgeable)
- Internal Quality Assurer

Centre staff may undertake more than one role, eg tutor and assessor or an Internal Quality Assurer, but must never internally quality assure their own assessments.

Assessor requirements

The Assessors of competence based units must:

- Be occupationally competent - this means that each assessor must be able to carry out the full requirements within the competency units that they are assessing. Occupational competence means that they are also occupationally knowledgeable.
- Maintain their occupational competence through clearly demonstrable continuing learning and professional development.
- Hold D32/33 or A1 or be working towards A1 or be working towards one of the following:

The A1 replacements eg the City & Guilds 6317 such as:

- the Level 3 Award in Assessing Competence in the Work Environment
- or the Level 3 Certificate in Assessing Vocational Achievement

or

- Another suitable qualification equivalent/alternative in the assessment of work based performance. This must be agreed in advance with the centres External Verifier in Assessing

Assessors of competence based units may also make assessment decisions on knowledge based units and learning outcomes.

Assessors of knowledge based units and knowledge based Learning Outcomes must:

- Be occupationally knowledgeable. This means that each assessor should possess relevant knowledge and understanding to assess units designed to test specific knowledge and understanding or units where knowledge and understanding are components of competency.
- Maintain their occupational knowledge through clearly demonstrable continuing learning and professional development.
- Hold D32/D33 or A1 or be working towards one of the following:
 - the A1 replacement qualifications i.e. the City & Guilds 6317 such as
 - Level 3 Award in Assessing Vocational Competence OR
 - Level 3 Award in Assessing Vocationally Related Achievement

or

- Level 3 Certificate in Assessing Vocational Achievement or
- Another suitable qualification in the assessment of knowledge. This must be agreed in advance with the External Verifier

Teachers, trainers and tutors

All teachers/trainers/tutors must:

- comply with the ITT Regulations 2007 (QTLS/ATLS) where they are delivering qualifications in England using public funding . For further information visit www.cityandguilds.com/qtls
- be occupationally knowledgeable in the areas for which they are teaching/delivering training
- be occupationally competent in the areas for which they are delivering competence based units
- have experience of providing training and assessment or be in the process of acquiring this experience.

Centre staff may undertake more than one role, eg tutor and assessor or internal verifier, but must never internally verify their own assessments.

Internal verifiers/Internal quality assurance

Internal quality assurance is key to ensuring that the assessment of evidence for units is of consistent and appropriate quality. Those performing the internal quality assurance role must be occupationally knowledgeable and possess the skills necessary to make quality assurance decisions. Although it is not a requirement to hold a qualification to quality assure this qualification, City & Guilds recommends that it is best practice to hold a V1/IQA qualification or a suitable alternative. Suitable alternatives include:

- D34 or V1
- The V1 replacements eg the City & Guilds 6317 such as the:
- Level 4 Award in the Internal Quality Assurance of Assessment Processes and Practice OR
- Level 4 Certificate in Leading the Internal Quality Assurance of Assessment Processes and Practice

If the Internal Verifier does not hold a qualification they must be able to demonstrate evidence of working to their own organisation's QA or IV standards which clearly link to V1 or other equivalent standards for Internal Quality Assurance.

Expert witness

An expert witness must:

- have a working knowledge of the QCF units on which their expertise is based
- be occupationally competent in their area of expertise
- have EITHER any qualification in assessment of workplace performance OR
- a professional work role which involves evaluating the every day practice of staff.

2.2 Candidate entry requirements

There are no formal entry requirements for candidates undertaking these qualifications. However, centres must ensure that candidates have the potential and opportunity to gain the qualifications successfully. Additionally, candidates would be expected to work with or care for individuals, in a paid, voluntary or personal capacity.

Age restrictions

These qualifications are not approved for use by candidates under the age of 16, and City & Guilds cannot accept any registrations for candidates in this age group.

Other legal considerations

Candidates/Learners working within care services may be legally required to undergo criminal record checks prior to taking up or continuing in employment. Centres and employers will need to liaise closely with one another to ensure that any requirements for the particular area of work are fully met. As the requirements vary between work contexts, checks should be made with the appropriate regulatory body and/or government departments if centres or employers are uncertain of the requirements. These are usually the responsibility of the employer. The appropriate service regulator identifies any 'fit person' criteria, not the Awarding Body.

Centres are advised that fit persons criteria and work function job specification limitations may impact the candidate/learner's ability to generate sufficient and appropriate evidence that meets the learning outcome and assessment criteria in some of the units within this qualification. The completion of a robust initial assessment should aim to highlight any possible issues that will impact on the learner's ability to complete a full qualification.

3 Course design and delivery

3.1 Initial assessment and induction

Centres will need to make an initial assessment of each candidate prior to the start of their programme to ensure they are entered for an appropriate type and level of qualification.

The initial assessment should identify:

- any specific training needs the candidate has, and the support and guidance they may require when working towards their qualifications. This is sometimes referred to as diagnostic testing.
- any units the candidate has already completed, or credit they have accumulated which is relevant to the qualifications they are about to begin.

City & Guilds recommends that centres provide an induction programme to ensure the candidate fully understands the requirements of the qualifications they will work towards, their responsibilities as a candidate, and the responsibilities of the centre. It may be helpful to record the information on a learning contract.

If candidates do not have a person with dementia that they can work with – they can use a case study in its place for knowledge units only.

The importance of maintaining confidentiality is paramount. Candidates must ensure that names of individual clients and carers are not disclosed in any part of their work in order to preserve confidentiality.

4 Assessment

4.1 Summary of assessment methods

Candidates will be provided with City & Guilds 'suggested' assignments for each knowledge based unit selected. Where there are exceptional reasons preventing candidates from completing these assignments, they may submit other evidence in line with the qualification assessment requirements via a portfolio of evidence.

Competence-based units are assessed by portfolios of evidence.

Assessment materials for assignments can be found on the City & Guilds website.

The evidence provided by candidates must at all times reflect the policies and procedures of the workplace as informed by current legislation, the relevant service standards and codes of practice for the sector. This qualification is internally assessed and externally verified. Independence of assessment is achieved via robust external and internal verification processes, supported by City & Guilds reporting systems.

4.2 Observation requirements

The prime source of evidence for competency based learning outcomes within this qualification is assessor observation. Where assessor observation would be difficult because of intrusion into areas of privacy and/or because activities occur rarely, expert witnesses may provide testimony for the occupationally specific units.

4.3 Additional assessment methods or evidence sources

In addition to observation, assessors should identify an appropriate mix of other assessment methods from the list below, to ensure that all the assessment criteria are sufficiently evidenced to allow them to make the consistency of the candidate's practice for each unit.

Expert witnesses may observe candidate practice and provide testimony for competence based units which will have parity with assessor observation for all competence based units across the qualification. If an assessor is unable to observe their candidate she/he will identify an expert witness in the workplace, who will provide testimony of the candidates work based performance.

Work products can be any relevant products of candidates' own work, or to which they have made a significant contribution, which demonstrate use and application within their practice.

Professional discussion should be in the form of a planned and structured review of candidates' practice, based on evidence and with outcomes captured by means of audio/visual or written records. The recorded outcomes are particularly useful as evidence that candidates can evaluate their knowledge and practice across the qualification.

Candidate/ reflective accounts describe candidates' actions in particular situations and/or reflect on the reasons for practising in the ways selected. Reflective accounts also provide evidence that candidates' can evaluate their knowledge and practice across the activities embedded in this qualification.

Questions asked by assessors and answered by candidates to supplement evidence generated by observations and any other evidence type used. Assessors may be able to infer some knowledge and understanding from observing candidate practice. They may ask questions to confirm understanding and/or cover any outstanding areas. Questions may be asked orally or in writing but, in both cases, a record must be kept of the questions and responses.

Witness testimonies. These should be from people who are in a position to provide evidence of candidate competence. Where testimony is sought from individuals who are service users, care should be taken to ensure the purpose of the testimony is understood and no pressure is felt to provide it.

Projects/Assignments. Candidates may have already completed a relevant project or assignment which can be mapped to the relevant standards and therefore provide evidence. Evidence from previous training courses and/or learning programmes which they have completed and which demonstrate their professional development may also be used

Case studies must be based on real work practice and experiences and will need to be authenticated by an assessor if used as evidence of a competent performance. Theoretical or simulated exercises would only be admissible as evidence of knowledge and understanding. NB Confidential records must not to be included in candidates' portfolios but must be referred to in the assessment records.

Recognition of prior learning (RPL)

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) is a process of using an individual's previous achievements to demonstrate competence within QCF. This is not a new process but expands on previously used processes such as the Accreditation of Prior Learning (APL), the recognition of experiential learning and the validation of informal learning by incorporating all types of prior learning and training.

The regulatory arrangements for the Qualifications and Credit Framework define RPL as a method of assessment that considers whether a candidate can demonstrate that they can meet the assessment requirements for a unit through knowledge, understanding or skills they already possess and do not need to develop through a course of learning. In the context of the QCF, the definition of RPL is quite specific and relates to assessment leading to the award of credit.

Assessment for RPL is conducted against the learning outcomes and assessment criteria of a unit and is subject to exactly the same quality assurance requirements as any other kind of assessment within the QCF. The RPL process is relevant where an individual has previously learnt something but may never have received formal recognition for this learning through a qualification or other form of certification.

Within the QCF an individual is able to 'claim' that he or she knows or can do something already and does not need to attend a course to learn it again. If he or she can prove this claim (through assessment of relevant evidence), then credit can be awarded for that achievement in the same way as any other credits. RPL refers to an opportunity for candidate to present competence or knowledge evidence which comes from a period prior to their registration for a particular qualification. The evidence presented - e.g. certificates, witness testimonies etc. - will need to provide sufficient detail to allow the assessor to apply the RPL assessment process.

Assessment staff work through Learning Outcomes and Assessment Criteria ensuring that all are covered, using relevant methods for RPL such as: Witness Testimony, Reflective Accounts, Professional Discussion, etc.

In considering the appropriateness of any single piece of evidence the following should be considered:

- Content – the degree to which the content of any previous learning meets the requirements of the National Occupational Standards against which it is being presented as evidence.
- Comprehensiveness of Assessment – ensure that all the learning derived from the content has been assessed. If only a proportion has been assessed, then the learning for the ‘non-tested’ areas cannot be assumed.
- Level – the degree to which the level of learning offered and tested relates to that required by the qualification
- Learning outcomes and Assessment criteria – the degree to which the previous learning covered both. Some learning will only have offered and tested the latter, in which case the Recognition of Prior Learning can only cover the knowledge aspect. Performance will require further assessment. Although unlikely, the reverse (performance tested but not knowledge) could be true in which case knowledge and understanding would need further assessment.
- Model of learning – difficulties can arise in mapping learning gained from non-competence based learning programmes into competence based models.
- Relevance of Context – the degree to which the context of the learning gained and assessed relates to the current context of the candidates work roles. If the context was different, assessors will need to satisfy themselves of the candidates’ ability to transfer the learning gained into the current setting.
